Information Bulletin

LG Max & Mini Max

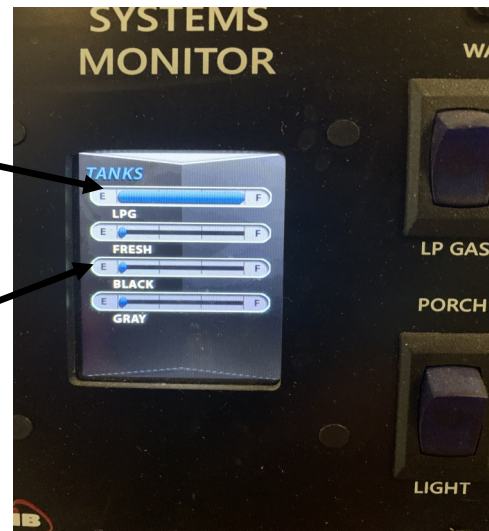

11/19/2019

This document was published to inform current customers and dealers of the System Monitor's function. This is only an information Bulletin. The information in this document can not be used for warranty purposes.

The LPG (Gas) and Black Tank meter on the Systems Monitor is not functional on these models.

LPG Gas meter position always reads full.

Black Tank Will always read empty.

Black Tank Sensor beside toilet.
Runs on 2 AA Batteries

Description:

On early models of the LG Max and Mini Max. The display was a generic model that indicated as if it was reading both LPG and Black Tank levels. However, the unit was not capable of being connected to either system. Future models will have the display screen corrected, showing only systems that are monitored. The Black Tank has a monitor built into it, next to the toilet. (See photo)
